FOR BROADCAST, RADIO & TV RECORDINGS & PHOTO-SHOOTS in Earlsfield, south London

Tara Theatre is unrivalled in London for being located less than one minute's walk away from a train station. Mainline train services heading south from Waterloo to Earlsfield run every 5 minutes - the journey from central London to Tara taking no more than 15 minutes.

Tara Theatre elegantly fuses architecture of East and West with state-of-the-art technical facilities. The visual signature of the theatre, sound-proofing and technical resources offer excellent radio and television broadcast opportunities. Opened by Mayor of London Sadiq Khan in 2016 (who grew up in a nearby estate), Tara Theatre has been used by, among many others, BBC RADIO 4, LONDON LIVE TV, AKADEMI DANCE, and MARIE NAFFAH MUSIC VIDEO.

"Thank you so much for the generous Tara welcome you gave to The Listening Project. It was a memorable evening, and it's a wonderful space and energy you have." Marya Burgess, BBC Radio Senior Producer, The Listening Project

"I have worked on many OB's and this was certainly one of the most straight forward and pleasurable, thanks to the Tara team" Belinda Naylor, BBC Radio 4 Producer (Open Book, Bookclub, The Listening Project)
